

102/100

Wondering if I ever saw the seasons change
Was it spring was it winter
I don't even remember that last time you called

How is that you're here 5 inches taller than me
We were only 16 last time I checked
Someone indifferent to pain

Is it mind numbing to feel the empty void depleted
Nothing seemed to consume my every thought

Did I make a new emotion
Something between unhappy and happy
Neither or either
Thoughts still spiraling in my brain

This war in my head
With no winning winners
Just my bruised fallen ego

Pulled and stretched by the messes I've made
Torn myself to pieces
Bleeding through my broken my edges

I guess my birthday came
Woke up to look in the mirror
Thought I would find someone better
Someone who's changed the (turn of phrase)

Everyone's moved ahead
I'm still lost in my own headspace

Crippled in debt

I'm washed away to an island
Miles and miles
Can't hear what you say

I guess I'll stay here alone
Keeping my space
Just to make sure I don't hurt you
As I try to fix my ways

(Bridge???)
I cried again part night
Why am I such a mess
As I get older
Was this what they meant
When they said it only gets harder
For me to be prepared
To lose my hope filled days
The sparkles in my eyes
Turned to gray

Leading my life stranded in the water
Cold showers don't ease the pain
More and more thoughts will numb it away
I can keep afloat if I just stay this way
Running away isn't how I'll be ok
Staying still to conserve my energy
For when I wake
For when heat starts
For when I can move again through the world
When I step out and look at everybody
I see the works of arts they live
I stand here outside my body
Seeing no work of art
Just a boring documentary I'm living in
That no one wants to watch
Turn that show off they say
I'm drawing myself by being a no body in my own narrative
Depleting the air
Oxygen running out
I want to shout
Crying help me out of here
Even with who I like
I can't fight this feeling
That there is things I'll find to hate
Just to let you
So I can fill my space alone
They say it's comforting my my silence

But do they really know
I'm only quite to keep in every thought
To stop the messes I can make
I'll bleed you dry if you hear my story
It's not some tragic just mostly a made up broken heart
Who can't seem to be ok in her own atmosphere

There is water in my lung
Rushing through my veins
I can't breathe I cant breathe
Spending enough time in the sadness cause me to learn to live in it
Learn to even like it
Learn it's a part of the daily strokes I make
I've become someone passive to all the masses of people
It's how I'll make and even cope with the pain
I'll tie my hair in ribbons
Keeping up the imperfections
There's no space or explanation to the regreat filled emotions
Rage and sorrow, I'm falling
Into the endless void of shades of grey
The more I keep up with nothing Will led to time fading
Not doing anything while doing everything you want from me
Making my mind into a labyrinth of silence took away my ability to break
The girl at 9
Fought all the lies
Took her own sweet time
And now I can't get back to her
And her little brown chocolate eyes
Curls messed up and wild
Steadfast bright red heart
Shown on her sleeves
But now in the sweaters of guilt
That time gave her to stay hidden
Keeping her deep and darkest secrets away